Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure.

On February 22, 2013, Dr. Owen O'Connor, Professor of Medicine and Director, Center for Lymphoid Malignancies, Columbia University Medical Center, New York, NY, presented at the 16th Annual International Extranodal Lymphoma Study Group conference in Athens, Greece. Dr. O'Connor is the lead investigator for TG Therapeutics, Inc.'s, (the "Company") clinical trial entitled "An Open Label Phase I/II Study of the Efficacy and Safety of Ublituximab in Patients with B-cell Non-Hodgkin Lymphoma who have Relapsed or are Refractory After CD20 Directed Antibody Therapy."

Currently, the trial has completed the first three (3) dose escalation cohorts (a total of nine (9) patients have been enrolled). As part of the presentation, Dr. O'Connor noted that eight (8) patients were on treatment long enough to be assessed for response, of which four (4) had either a complete response ("CR") or partial response ("PR") (one of which has not yet been confirmed). Dr. O'Connor also mentioned that responses have been seen in both rituximab relapsed and rituximab refractory patients.

The Company would make clear that despite Dr. O'Connor's remarks, early results from clinical trials may not be indicative of final results from such trials or future clinical trials. There is a risk that the data (both safety and efficacy) from future clinical trials will not coincide with the data analyses from prior pre-clinical and clinical trials, and the Company would also point out the other risk factors identified in their reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
